NEW ROAD IN TOWN — A work road built to service CMP's local power-line upgrade now runs along the northeast shore of South Pond. The dirt road, which runs roughly between Abbotts Anchorage and Littlefield Beaches, is bermed much of the way by the roadbed of the St. Lawrence & Atlantic Railroad, but at some points the road passes within a dozen feet of the shoreline. Some residents have expressed concern about the cutting so close to the lake, but Greenwood Code Enforcement Officer Norm Putnam said CMP "has done a pretty good job. The erosion control on the road looks good. I don't think there'll be any problem with silt getting into the lake." Putnam said, however, he did have some questions about "a couple of trees where they got a little bit enthusiastic," in clearing the power-line corridor.

CMP road, clearcutting on South Pond admittedly unsightly, but appear legal

And local code officer says no erosion danger posed to lake

By MICHAEL DANIELS

It's big, it's ugly, and some things could have been done better -- as even CMP admits -- but it's legal, and there's no reason to believe it's harming the lake.

In order to accommodate the new, larger power poles, CMP has been clearcutting and building a temporary work road along the northeast shore of South Pond.

The work is part of the 14-mile long power-line upgrade between Woodstock and Newry.

But while area motorists have grown accustomed to the big new poles going up along local roadways, the sight of clearcutting and a new road so close to South Pond has come as a shock to some.

Cindy Hauserman owns a cottage on Little Island. "When we got here and saw it I was just appalled," she said. "All that cutting going on morning after morning. It just seemed so excessive."

Hauserman called the state Department of Environmental Protection to see what was going on, and neighbor Rob Gip went to a meeting of the Greenwood selectmen to see if the town was doing anything about the project.

Overlapping regulations

The regulations governing such situations are not simple.

And the picture is further complicated by the fact that electrical power lines are considered an essential service and have different (generally more lenient) requirements than other types of construction -- especially when, as in this case, they are following an existing right-of-way.

Even Jim Boyle, CMP environmental coordinator for the project, admitted: "I have to constantly go back and review how all this is supposed to work."

Greenwood Planning Board chairman Wayne Hakala, who was at the selectmen's meeting Gip attended, told him the town had no control over the work because it was being done under a DEP permit by rule.

But that's not strictly the case. CMP does have DEP permit-by-rule authorization for the work. Such authorization is required by the state's Natural Resources Protection Act.

However, the work must also comply with local shoreland zoning regulations, and a Planning Board permit is listed as a condition in the relevant regulations.

Prior to undertaking the work, CMP had contacted local planning boards in Woodstock, Greenwood and Bethel, but in each case the board indicated that an informal approval was all that was required -- and that

New satellite dishes bring digital quality TV to the hinterlands

Being beyond the cable no longer means being out of the entertainment loop

By WENDY HANSCOM

Residents of Maine's rural outposts -- like Upton citizens who are more than 20 miles from the nearest cable television hook up -- can now tune in to CNN or HBO if they're willing to make room for a four-foot wide satellite dish in their yard or an even smaller 18-inch dish antenna on their roof.

New "digital compression" satellite television technology is sweeping through western Maine.

"I love it," said Bill Cushing of Bethel. "I had no TV. You could watch it for a little while, but it gave you a headache. I like the movies. Sometimes I don't get to bed until 2 (a.m.)"

Since July, Time Warner Satellite Services of Scarborough has been distributing Primostar satellite programming in all Maine counties except York.

Other companies are getting ready to distribute RCA's new Digital Satellite System in Maine.

The Primostar service offers more than 60 channels including network feeds (NBC, ABC, CBS, FOX), 24-hour news (CNN), sports channels (about 14), movies (Turner Movie Classics, Cinemax), pay-per-view, and more.

"The response have been overwhelming," said George Grigsby, general manager of Time Warner Satellite Services. "We cannot keep up with the demand. Primostar has been available since 1990. There were about 70,000 subscribers in the U.S. on the seven- to ten-channel system. The digital compression technology has improved and we can offer more channels. By late 1995 we'll probably have 100 channels. As the technology grows, we're going to grow with it."

Reports are good so far

Primostar customers contacted last week all seemed happy with their service.

"I'm pleased with it," said William Cushing of Route 232 in Bethel. "It's very good. Before on Route 232 we had nothing. They've already put up six dishes in this area and two more are going up Saturday."

Mark Thurlow of Woodstock said he couldn't get the cable company interested in coming up his road.

"I was never going to get cable," Thurlow said. "I'm on a dead end road. Our reception was lousy. We were getting nothing. We tried everything. We tried this and the reception is great. I wouldn't get cable now if it ran by the door. We

Greenwood tax bills drop

By WENDY HANSCOM

Greenwood tax bills will be going out again this week -- and residents are in for a pleasant surprise.

Town officials made a mistake computing the mil rate, according to selectman Marie Bartlett, and the rate will drop from 16.25 mils to 15.3 mils.

"People who have already paid will receive a refund," Bartlett said. "The two-percent discount for those who pay early will be in effect from the date of the new mailing. Taxpayers who haven't paid their bill should wait until they get the new one."

The change will result in the reduction of 95 cents per thousand dollars of assessed value, she said.

Bartlett declined to comment on exactly how the error came about, until she had an opportunity to meet with her fellow selectmen. She did say the mistake was the result of a math error and no one in particular was responsible.

"We checked it and doublechecked it," she said, "but we're human."

Telstar field hockey

Young defense expects to be challenged

By WENDY HANSCOM

Coach Gail Wight is making no promises about the performance of this year's Telstar High School field hockey team, but the team has a long history of pulling together outstanding seasons and this year will probably be no different.

After playing in three consecutive State Class C championship games in 1989, 90 and 91, -- losing all three games 1-0 -- the Rebels have been rebuilding for the past two years.

The 1992 and 93 teams were not state-class powerhouses, but both teams managed to muscle their way into the Western Maine Class C playoffs.

In 1992 the Rebels lost the semifinal game to Yarmouth, 1-0, and last year Telstar lost the quarterfinal game to Sacapne Valley, 1-0.

Coach Wight said she's not expecting this year's young team to win every game, but the Rebels should be very competitive in the Mountain Valley Conference, and the playoffs are not out of reach.

This year's team was once again sacked by graduation. The defense was hit particularly hard.

The offense lost only Kelsey Cross and Angie Mills, but defenders Cheri Myers, Misty Hutchins, OFF AND RUNNING--The new Crescent Park School opened its doors last week to more than 300 students. It was a day of firsts for many of the students, from new kindergarten kids, to pupils who had never eaten in a school cafeteria before.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Earle G. Shettleworth, Jr., director of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission, was the featured speaker at the 29th annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held Thursday evening in the meeting room of the society's headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House.

Shettleworth's topic was "People from Away: Mount Desert Island at the Turn of the Century." In his slide presentation he outlined some of the outsiders, particularly John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who made such important contributions to that area of Maine in the early years of this century.

During the business meeting, which preceded the meeting, president Charles Raymond thanked the Special Projects Committee and its head, Persis Post, for all their work in making the potluck supper such a success prior to the annual meeting. He also thanked Barbara H. Brown for her usual attractive flower arrangements for the tables.

President Raymond reported that the society had lost 10 members since the last annual meeting and called for a moment of silence in their memory: Louise Annis, Philip H. Chadbourn, Richard Davis, Sylvia Ellis, Horton W. Emerson, Gerald Harrington, Ruby Mott, Anthony L. Pugliese, Herbert Shirreffs, and Ferroll P. Witter.

He reported on some of the highlights since the last annual meeting: 72 new members added, over 60 donors added to the society's collections, nearly 300 donors contributed over $8,000 to the annual fund, successful annual events, including a special program commemorating the 20th anniversary of the opening of the Dr. Moses Mason House to the public, successful community picnic featuring the Portland Brass Quintet made possible in part from grants from the Maine Arts Commission and the Mahosuc Arts Council, the third annual Hall lecture featuring Dartmouth College historian Jere Daniell speaking on town founding in New England, many additions to the society's genealogical microfilm collection through several generous donors, a well-attended spring genealogical seminar, the hosting last fall of Maine Citizens for Historic Preservation's annual meeting in conjunction with the National Park Service and the National Institute for the Conservation of Cultural Property, the hosting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies with Beverly Kallgren, co-editor of the book, "Dear Friend Anna: The Civil War Letters of a Common Soldier from Maine," the presentation of the second annual Bethel Historical Society Preservation Award to the Foster family of Sunday River for their outstanding preservation tradition extending over several generations, the selection of the honorary members, the society's highest membership honor for outstanding service to the organization to Olive Anderson, Rosalind Chapman and Rodney Howe, the revision of the dues schedule, the receipt of William Bingham's shaving chair from his grand niece Laurel Blossom, the award of the Dr. Moses Mason Award to Angela Szente for her student essay, "Old Andover Antiquity," and the transcription of the 1920 Bethel and Hanover census records from the microfilm by society member Warren Stearns.

President Raymond reminded those present that the above were just some of the highlights and thanked everyone who had volunteered time to the society for their efforts in making so much progress possible.

The president announced that the next meeting would be held on Thursday, Oct. 6, and feature the annual "What's It" and Collectibles Night. Anyone attending was asked to bring an item from their collection or an unidentified item for discussion at the meeting.

Retiring trustee Margaret Joy Tibbetts presented the nominating committee report that she and the other members, Arlene Lowell and Kenneth Bolir had prepared: president, Charles Raymond; vice president, Walter Hatch; secretary and clerk of the trustees, Shireen Vincent; treasurer, Roger Conant; trustee for three years, Rebecca Kendall. It was voted to accept the report of the nominating committee.

Society director Stanley R. Howe presented the 1994 Marjorie MacArthur Noll Award for outstanding volunteer service to Margaret Joy Tibbetts, retiring chairman of the Board of Trustees. In his remarks, Howe cited her long and active involvement with the society dating back to the early 1970s. "Without her, much of what we associate with the progress of the society would not have been possible," Howe remarked.

He detailed her service: vice president, president, treasurer, and chairman of the board (in the latter capacity for 20 years). She has worked closely with the Bingham trusts and been instrumental in

Greenwood tire dump talks roll on

'The Gordons run a very clean operation compared to Durham and Bowdoinham.'

MICHAEL PARKER
DEP Environmental Specialist

TIRE OWNERS FACE ANOTHER NEW DEADLINE--Peter and Susan Gordon listen to Department of Environmental officials speak at last week's meeting on the couple's tire dump. DEP and Greenwood officials told the couple they want a plan to move tires off the site in three months.

By WENDY HANSOM

Greenwood and Department of Environmental officials have agreed to give Peter and Susan Gordon three months to come up with a plan to move some of the 1.7 million tires off the Rabbit Road tire dump or face an injunction.

DEP officials also told Greenwood selectmen that if the Gordons abandon the tire dump, the town would not have to pay to clean it up.

The meeting on the tire dump was the second town officials have held recently, but the first meeting that DEP officials have turned up to.

In the past five years, the DEP has asked the Gordons to comply with other "consent agreements," but so far tires have just continued to pile up.

Town and DEP officials agreed Thursday to give the Gordons three months to find a way to market the tires.

If the couple comes up with a plan, they would get three more months to implement it.

If the couple doesn't get signed disposal contracts, DEP officials said they were agreeable to pursuing placing an injunction on the site.

The injunction would stop the flow of tires coming in to the site, but would still allow the couple to work toward moving tires out.

"We've been taken to task in the local paper as being soft on this facility or whatever," said Al Prysunka, director of the DEP's Bureau of Hazardous Materials and Solid Waste Control. "But if we shut them down, then they go out of business, then the tires are still sitting there."

The DEP has already taken over and is responsible for the cleanup of a Durham tire dump, Prysunka said, and the agency also has control over a Bowdoinham tire dump.

Peter Gordon also said bad press was partly to blame for his problems.

"Due to the town of Greenwood and the local paper," Gordon said, "People don't want to deal with us and we're bringing in about a third of the tires we used to. We're not making enough to get through the week . . . I'm trying to do everything I can. People are afraid to invest money. The banks won't loan money and businessmen are afraid of dealing with a mess if a mess came along."

No solution?

Prysunka and DEP environmental specialist Michael Parker told Greenwood officials that most of the disposal routes for the facility have already been explored with little success.

"If there was an easy solution out there, people'd already be making a lot of money," Prysunka said. "We've talked to the paper companies and said 'Wouldn't it be nice if they'd burn shredded tires', but they're so competitive with each other and they're not going to do the state any favors."

"We're not sure shredding and burning tires is cost effective," he said. "Crude oil is cheap right now. If crude prices go up, it will get rid of a lot of problems and tires are one of them."

The state might want to consider purchasing a shredder, Prysunka said.

"That's conflicting with the private sector," he said, "but you don't see anyone jumping forward to solve this problem."

No Greenwood liability?

Parker and Prysunka assured the town that if the Gordons abandon the tire site, that it will be the state and not local taxpayers that will pay to clean it up.

"We would have no legal basis to hold the town of Greenwood responsible to clean up that site," Parker said.

He added that the two sites the state already has control over are "disasters waiting to happen."

"The Gordons run a very clean operation compared to Durham and Bowdoinham," Parker said.

The DEP will draw up the papers on the latest agreement and ask the Gordons to sign them.

Selectmen asked Parker and Prysunka to meet with them again in three months to see if the Gordons had made any progress toward disposing of the tires.

When the DEP licensed the Gordons, they were allowed to store 10 percent of the tires they brought in, Parker said, and were supposed to recycle the other 90 percent.

Parker said he'd like to see the couple come back in three months with a plan that would get rid of 90 percent of the tires or get the dump in compliance with it's license.

The license allows the Gordons to have three tire cells on the site. There are currently about seven, he said.

In three months, Parker said, the group will probably have to decide if the Gordons have made an acceptable effort toward cleaning up the dump.

Satellite TV

used to rent a lot of videos. I guess Sounds Easy will lose some money on us."

Eleanor Davis of Newry was one of the first people in her town to hook up.

She's already signed up 15 more people for the service -- customers get four free pay-for-view movies for everyone they sign up for Primstar.

Business is brisk

In July Time Warner started installing the Primstar systems in Maine, and contractors were setting up about 10 a day, Grigsby said.

But now about 32 systems are going in per day, and by the end of September, he said, he expects 50 a day will be installed.

Local computer and electronic stores are also getting ready to distribute the RCA program. The system offers about the same programming as Primstar.

Leo Dyer of Dyer's Electronics in Mexico said the technology is new in New England, but selling well in other parts of the country. So well in fact, that he can't distribute the RCA service yet because he can't get the receivers.

"They can't make them fast enough," Dyer said. "People are signing up to buy them before stores can even get the equipment in."

Rex Richardson, store manager of Computers & Electronics in Oxford, said the store is also selling the new RCA programming.

How's it works

The Primstar system includes about a four-foot wide satellite dish and wiring from the dish to a receiver inside the home. The RCA program uses a smaller dish.

Clear television images are transmitted from a stationary satellite orbiting the U.S. to the homeowners dish.

The systems are also plugged in to the customer's phone line, so that pay-per-view programming can be purchased.

"We can service about 99 percent of people, either in their yard or on the roof," Grigsby said. "You need a 39-degree southwest elevation off the horizon. People can pick it up even six or seven feet away from an 8-foot wall. We've gone to customers' houses and had one or two trees in the way. People say 'hey, give me a week, I'll cut them and reschedule.'"

The only problems so far with the system, Grigsby said, is that during heavy downpours, the rain acts like a blanket and blocks out the signal. On a normal rainy day, reception is fine, he said.

Snow usually slides off the dish, he said, but if it builds up customers will need to sweep it off.

Parental control

Both systems have programming that includes stations that carry R-rated movies, but no X-rated films are on the systems.

Customers can block out channels that carry R-rated movies, so their children will have no access to the channel.

The systems' menus can also be set to show just a certain level of shows with movie ratings.

Parents can program so that nothing above a PG-rating, for example, will appear on the screen without an access code. This allows children to still watch a channel that carries R movies, but nothing above the family's rating preference.

Relatively inexpensive

Like cable TV, satellite television comes with a price tag.

With the Primstar system homeowners don't own any of the equipment. They rent it from Time Warner. The company does any repair work necessary at no charge.

Installation is about $150 and whatever package a viewer selects they must pay a month in advance.

The "economy" package for one television is about $30 per month. (More hookups cost more money.) That package, plus ten more channels of mostly old movies, westerns, love stories, the weather channel and more, bring the cost to about $37. Adding three HBO channels and two Cinemax brings the total to about $50 per month. The prices listed include $13 per month equipment rental fees.

The prices are competitive with cable, Grigsby said.

"I don't know how long the pricing will remain stable," he said. "Things always go up. It will eventually go up, but we're not going to jack the price up just because more people are getting on. The price will go up with inflation and as more programming is added, subscribers may pick up some of the cost of that."

The RCA system asks customers to purchase an 18-inch antenna dish for $699 or $899, depending on how many televisions are on the system. There's also a $150 professional installation fee. Homeowners can try to install the system themselves, but there's an additional charge for an installation kit.

Subscribers then pay for programs from RCA's satellite service. The price starts at about $8 and goes up depending on the package.

Competition for cable?

The Bethel area is serviced by United Video Cable. Company spokesman Marsha Carr said she doubted the new technology will have much of an effect on the cable industry.

"I think it would be the perfect alternative to customers who live in rural areas or places far off the road," Carr said. "It's very, very expensive for us to run cable, and new FCC regulations are making it harder all the time. But I don't think many people with cable are going to replace it with satellite TV."

Grigsby said he was aware of only one or two people who had switched from cable to satellite television.

Telstar Video store manager Jen Ladd said she didn't think her sales would drop either.

"I think people will still rent movies," Ladd said. "I have cable customers that still rent movies."

Briefly

Andover struggles with tax troubles

ANDOVER--No vote was taken, but about two thirds of the 50 people at an Andover public hearing last week seemed in favor of using $200,000 from a $715,946 investment fund to reduce taxes. Andover taxpayers are facing a possible 80 percent property tax increase, from 12 to 20 mills. The town lost $144,000 in personal property taxes from MCI Telecommunication Corporation which owns the former COMSAT satellite tracking station. On Sept. 10, townspeople will be asked to vote on using the $200,000. A meeting to discuss the issue again begins at 10 a.m., with voting from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Animal drugs giving people a high

HOOKSETT, N.H.--New Hampshire police say an anesthetic used on animals has been stolen from veterinary clinics and hospitals in Hooksett, Londonderry, Litchfield and Raymond. Ketamine, apparently a hallucinogenic when used by people, is used as an animal anesthetic. Its effect on humans ranges from a severe to pleasant, dreamlike states, hallucinations, vivid imagery and delirium. Vets use the drug on older animals because it is easier than other anesthetics on their hearts and respiratory system. The anesthetic has the potential to stop the hearts of humans or animals. Its use by humans is a misdemeanor in New Hampshire.

Chopper close call at Sugarloaf

CARRABASSETT VALLEY--A helicopter used to transport concrete for a new four-seat chairlift on Sugarloaf Mountain had to make an emergency landing last week when it experienced a mechanical failure. The pilot and four ground crew members were uninjured. The chopper was about 60 feet off the ground when the tail rotor failed. The pilot released a heavy bucket of concrete then landed the helicopter in an area where there were no workers. The chopper's landing gear and tail section were damaged in the landing.

Construction contracts drop

AUGUSTA--At the end of seven months, 1994 construction contract awards in Maine totaled just over $579 million, exceeding the year-ago total by seven percent. More than $113 million worth of construction work was awarded during the month of July, a 13-percent drop from the July 1993 total. Residential building was the largest contributor to the July total, with $50 million in new construction. Construction of single-family homes lagged slightly behind the year-ago total. A number of high-value projects contributed to the total including a $2.5 million Shop 'n Save in Calais, the $3 million Crown Park Inn in Presque Isle and a $1.2 million credit union in Bangor.

Dam relicensing criticized

CONCORD, N.H.--The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission licensed seven dams on the Androscoggin River last week. The licensing is being criticized by environmentalists and the federal Environmental Protection Agency. The environmental groups say the Energy Regulatory Commission did not sufficiently consider the dams' possible harm to fish and the Androscoggin's water quality. Licensing the dams also does nothing toward promoting conservation, EPA officials said. Environmental groups said the dams should continue to operate, but the companies that use them should also be required to clean up water pollution and do more to promote and protect fishing, boating and wildlife. The EPA is calling for a rehearing on the licensing.

Video store gets grant

NORWAY--Patricia Shearman, president of Pineapple Video Services of Norway, has been awarded a grant by the Oxford Hills Council for the Arts as part of a program funded by the Maine Arts Commission. The grant has been used in the production of a video "The Fierce Conflagration of 1894." The historical documentary recreates the scenery that was once Norway, Maine through the use of old photographs and anecdotes.

Sugarloaf/SKI, LTD. deal final

CARRABASSETT VALLEY--The equity partnership agreement between Sugarloaf Mountain Corporation and SKI, Ltd. was made official last week in Portland. Officials from the two companies signed the final legal documents. The deal gives Vermont-based SKI, Ltd 51 percent ownership and controlling interest in Sugarloaf.

North Waterford church expanding

NORTH WATERFORD--The North Waterford Congregational Church will be lifted off its weakened foundation in the next two weeks. Its new foundation should be completed by November, according to church officials. The church's old ceiling and floor boards have already been torn out. The boards were sold and the square-headed nails were saved to sell as souvenirs. Church members will finish the inside of the building throughout the winter. Total renovations on the church amount to about $100,000.

Three die in area accidents

HARRISON/NORWAY--Two car crashes killed three people in Western Maine over the Labor Day weekend. A car driven by Paul D. Keddy, 22, of Boston, heading west on Route 118 in Norway at 4:15 a.m. Saturday, slid off the road and struck a tree. Keddy and his passenger, John Buividas, 18, of Dorchester, Mass. were both dead at the scene. In Harrison, a two-vehicle accident Friday resulted in the death of a North Waterford man. Michael R. Smith, 39, was killed instantly when his vehicle travelling east on Route 35 was hit head-on by a west bound car operated by John R. Goodwin, 56, of Harrison. Both men were driving alone.

Vermont bans jet skis on lakes, ponds

MONTPELIER, VT.--Vermont officials have prohibited most small personal watercraft, such as jet skis, from most of the state's lakes and ponds. The rule, issued by the Vermont Water Resources Board, will be effective May 1, 1997. It bans personal watercraft from lakes and ponds smaller than 300 acres. The crafts will only be allowed on about 30 of the state's 285 lakes and ponds. The ruling also bans people from within 300 feet of a nesting loon site between May 1 and July 31.

From the Bethel Police log:

*Police help outside agencies;
too many juveniles hang out at church*

Police helped Oxford County Sheriff's Office deputies with two calls last week. Saturday, Sept. 3, Bethel police responded to a report of a man pinned under a fallen tree in Locke Mills. When police arrived the man was not trapped under the tree, but sustained serious injuries, the report said. No other details were available. Early Sunday morning, Sept. 4, police went to Gilead to a report of a loud party with a fight in progress. The fight had broken up and most of the subjects had left the scene before police arrived. In other police news last week, Sept. 2, police talked to a group of six juveniles in the parking lot of Our Lady of the Snows Church on Route 26. The juveniles were asked to leave and told if they returned they could face criminal trespassing charges. The church has had problems with trespassors in the past, the report said. On Sept. 2, Frederick L. Meader, 57, of Bethel, was summonsed for operating under the influence of an intoxicant. Meader was stopped by police for failure to stop at a stop sign. He failed a field sobriety test, according to the report. On Sept. 4, Owen Chamberlain, 26, of Bethel was stopped for a defective tail light. A routine driver's license check revealed there was an outstanding warrant on him for failure to appear in court. He was arrested and transported to Oxford County Jail.

REBEL HOCKEY SEASON STARTS TODAY--Telstar High School's Lori Davis, plaid skirt/right, picks up the ball to head for the cage during Friday's scrimmage with Berlin High School. Amy Patten, left, was on her way to help, but all scoring attempts by both teams failed throughout the game, which ended in a 0-0 tie. Telstar starts its regular season today home against Lisbon at 3:30 p.m. (Photo by Wendy Hanscom)

LURC to review Comp. plan

The Maine Land Use Regulation Commission has scheduled a series of meetings to receive public comment on how the commission may best address a major land use issue facing the unorganized areas in this review of the commission's Comprehensive Land Use Plan -- that is, the cumulative effects of scattered development on the natural resources and special character of the commission's jurisdiction.

The commission is currently reviewing its Comprehensive Land Use Plan which was last revised in 1983. While the commission recognizes the successes it has had in minimizing the effects of development and other land uses over the past 20 years, it recognizes the need to look to the future and consider new strategies or approaches to meet the needs of the next decade and beyond.

The commission is inviting suggestions for new strategies or approaches, if any, to best address this development issue in its revision to the Comprehensive Land Use Plan.

Times and Places: Public meetings have been scheduled at the following locations and dates:

Thursday, Sept. 8, 6 p.m., Room 109, Science Building, University of Maine at Machias.

Thursday, Sept. 15, 6 p.m., Bangor Motor Inn Gazebo, Outer Hogan Road, Bangor.

Thursday, Sept. 29, 6 p.m., Greenville Community House, Greenville.

Thursday, Oct. 6, 6 p.m., Rangeley Inn, Rangeley.

Wednesday, Oct. 12, 6 p.m., Caribou Conf. Center, Caribou.

Thursday, Oct. 20, 6 p.m., Alfred's Restaurant at the Comfort Inn, Civic Center Drive, Augusta.

How to Participate: All interested parties are invited to attend these meetings and offer comments and suggestions to the commission. Written comments may be submitted to the Maine Land Use Regulation Commission, State House Station 22, Augusta, ME 04333, Attn: Fred Todd.

Disabilities: Persons with disabilities planning to attend any of the meetings are requested to inform the commission in advance so that arrangements can be made for services they require.

For Additional Information: The commission has prepared two reports to provide background for these meetings and to serve as the basis for continuing discussions on the commission's current review and revision of its Comprehensive Land Use Plan.

The reports, "A Summary of the Commission's Current Land Use Policies and Their Net Effects After 20 Years of Development in Maine's Unorganized Areas" and "Major Policy Issues and Options Arising from the Report on the Effects of the Commission's Policies," are available from the commission by calling the Augusta office at 287-2631 or 1-800-452-8711 or by writing the Maine Land Use Regulation Commission, State House Station 22, Augusta, ME 04333. Persons having questions about these meetings should contact Fred Todd or Sue Burns of the commission's planning staff.

CLARIFICATION

Black fly claims were in jest. Comments by Sunday River spokesman Skip King in last week's Citizen regarding the relative density of black flies at Sunday River and Sugarloaf/USA were intended humorously.

Hockey

Jen Bean, Sheila Douglass, Melissa Howe and Dawn Seames are all gone from the backfield.

Jessie Wight is back in the cage for her second varsity season.

She's a little more seasoned, the coach said, and with some young fullbacks and halfbacks between the goalie and the rival attackers, the sophomore may get plenty of chances to hone her skills.

Other returning defenders include seniors Amy Patten, co-captain, at halfback, and Alise Bennett, Coral Smith, Shye Buck and Angie Lovejoy, who all put in time last year as either half or fullbacks.

Also taking up defensive positions are junior Mandy McInnis and sophomores Jana Mason and Monica Rolfe.

Seniors leading the Rebel attack this year are co-captain Lori Davis at wing and inner Jamine Orrak.

The seniors will be joined in the front line by junior letterman Katie Mullen; sophomore lettermen Beth Howe and Sarah Richardson; sophomore newcomers Liza Fyrborg and Meagan Meisner; and senior exchange student Helen Nordheim.

"We don't post a varsity team as such," Wight said. "The key to having a good varsity is having enough JV people to back them up. There'll be some underclassmen playing when we're into the season a few games."

"Our strength is probably the offense," she said. "I have speed on the line, and so far they've been doing really well. Our weakness may be the defense. We're just trying to figure out who can mentally and physically handle the halfback and fullback positions."

League play looks tough

The Mountain Valley Conference is noted for being full of strong competitors.

"We'll be competitive in the Mountain Valley league," the coach said. "Nobody knows how we'll all finish, because we're all so close in talent, and Telstar stands just as good a chance as anyone. The majority of the MVC teams are usually in the Western Maine Class C or B playoffs."

Practice has been focused on ball-handling skills and some drills, Wight said.

"The interest is there," she said. "They seem excited. They were definitely ready to play a scrimmage. They're sick of practice."

Telstar opens its regular season at home today (Wednesday) against Lisbon at 3:30 p.m. and meets Dirigo away Friday.

Coaching change

Wight is striking out on her own this year to coach the varsity team. She'll get some help from JV coach Lisa Pivin.

Wight has co-coached with Sally Hannon for the past several years.

Hannon decided to coach middle school hockey this year, she said, because the middle school schedule allows her to see more of her daughter Amy's hockey games at Clark University.

CMP Environmental siting coordinator Jim Boyle admitted that the water bar to the left should have been better mulched, and he promised Tuesday to correct the problem immediately. This portion of the new work road runs along only a dozen feet from South Pond, and water drains out unimpeded along a beaver trail (right) toward the shoreline. However, an examination of the site on Tuesday morning, following Monday's heavy rain, showed that sedimentation from the water bar had stopped just off the edge of the road, and well short of the water's edge.

STEPHENS MEMORIAL OFFERS NEW SIBLING CLASS

The Western Maine Family Birthplace at Stephens Memorial Hospital will offer a sibling class for big brothers- and sisters-to-be, ages 3 and up.

The first class will be held on Saturday, Sept. 10, from 10:30 a.m. until noon in the Resource Room in the new wing.

The class will be taught by Nancy Ryan, LPN, an obstetric nurse.

She will teach children about holding a baby, the importance of hand washing, helping Mom and Dad with the new baby, helping dress the baby and much more.

This class is the perfect way to prepare for the changes in the family a new baby will make, while making your older child feel special.

The sibling class will be offered again in November and every other month after that.

All childbirth education classes are included in prenatal care fees. Call the Western Maine Family Birthplace at Stephens Memorial Hospital at 743-5933, Ext. 380 to preregister for the new sibling class.

NOTES FROM

Adult Education

Adult Education in the Telstar Region will begin a variety of fall courses and programs during the week of Sept. 19, with courses planned for hours from 6 a.m. to evening, and in locations ranging from Bethel to Andover. Registrations are currently being accepted at the Adult Education office at Telstar High School in Bethel, 824-2780. A complete course guide was mailed to area residents on Aug. 26; additional copies are available at the Adult Education Office.

The courses scheduled to begin during the week of Sept. 19 include:

Computers

Introduction to Computers and Microsoft Works will be taught by Ed Latham at the Adult Learning Center on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. and on Saturday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m. Latham will also offer a course in Microsoft Works on Mondays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. for those with a basic computer knowledge.

Introduction to Computers for Seniors and Others is a beginner level course to be held at the Adult Learning Center on Tuesdays from 1 to 3 p.m. Jeanette Baldrige is the instructor.

Introduction to DOS and Windows will be taught at the Adult Learning Center by Brenda Eastman on Fridays from 7 to 9 p.m. Ms. Eastman will also offer a Word Perfect 6.0 for Windows on Fridays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the center. Keyboarding will be taught by Ruth Brown on Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. and again on Thursdays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. This is the class for anyone who would like to learn to use the keyboard for computer work or typing as well as for those interested in improving their speed and accuracy.

Courses in Word Perfect 6.0 (DOS version) will be taught by Ms. Brown on Tuesdays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m.

Lotus 1-2-3 will be the subject of a course taught by Lois Ruff on Wednesdays from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Adult Learning Center. This popular spreadsheet program is used in many workplaces and the course is open to those with a working knowledge of IBM-compatible computers.

There are places remaining in an introductory computer class to be held at the Andover School from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. on Mondays. All computer classes have a fee of $25. The selection will be repeated later in the fall starting the week of Nov. 7. Please specify date when registering.

Business

A laboratory-style course in Record Keeping and Accounting will be offered this fall by Cynthia Kelley. This course allows participants to select the appropriate level from record keeping, accounting I and accounting II and to work independently under the guidance of the instructor. The course will run through mid-December, with students selecting the number of weeks necessary to complete their goal. The fee is $20 plus books. Notary Public training will be offered on Thursday, Sept. 22 from 7 to 9 p.m., free of charge, with Merton Brown as the instructor. Pre-registration is required.

Writing

Two courses are planned in Creative Writing this fall. Creative writing will meet from 1 to 4 p.m. on Thursdays at the Adult Learning Center. Jeanette Baldrige is the instructor for this 10-week workshop for beginning and advanced writers including class instruction and evaluation.

The Women's Writing Group will meet from 1 to 3 p.m. on Wednesdays for 10 weeks. This class, taught by Jeanette Baldrige, explores issues of special concern to women using the writing process. Course fees are $20.

the towns' code enforcement officers would monitor the work to ensure that shoreline regulations were not being violated.

But CMP's Boyle said Tuesday that the company should probably have formally applied for the permits. "We should have gone in and gotten the essential-services permits," he said.

If the company had applied for permits, the local boards would have required that wherever possible the work be done along existing corridors, and that the company minimize the environmental impact. Boyle said that even without the permits, the company has attempted to meet those conditions.

Greenwood code enforcement officer Norm Putnam generally agrees. Putnam, who recently inspected the work site, said the construction company doing the work for CMP (Seaward Construction of Kittery) "has done a pretty good job. The erosion control on the road looks good. I don't think there'll be any problems with silt getting to the lake."

Boyle, however, acknowledged that some of the details have not gone quite as smoothly as the company might have wished.

Asked about a water bar emptying only a few feet from the lake (photos above), he conceded that it should have been better mulched (and he promised it would be soon).

Boyle also admitted that where the power-line corridor crosses a stream in Locke Mills Village, parts of trees had been left in the water. He blamed that problem on miscommunication. "The crews were not careful enough," he said, "so we had to go back in and clear it out again."

Boyle noted that the problem in Locke Mills was due in part to the corridor being shifted to move it further from the stream.

"In the long run," he said, "it will be a big improvement."

Boyle said that when the work is finished (probably by the end of the month along South Pond) CMP will be back to reseed, mulch and generally repair the area as much as possible.

He said he would also return in the spring to evaluate the condition of the site and take any further action necessary to restore it as far as possible to the green shoreline people are used to seeing.

Boyle said CMP was really forced "to thread a needle" in following the old right-of-way so close to a lake, but he said current construction practices were a far cry from those used in the 1920s (when the line was built) and the 1950s (when the present poles were set).

"In those days they just rip-roared through here," he said.

Anyone wishing more information on the environmental aspects of the power-line upgrade, can call Boyle at 621-4429.

"Between The Lines"

Dear Friends,
We recently received a letter from author Tabitha King, the wife of that OTHER world-famous author from Maine.
Of course, Ms. King is a well known author in her own right, with best-selling novels such as SMALL WORLD, THE TRAP, PEARL, and CARETAKERS to her credit. In her last novel, ONE ON ONE, Ms. King showed us what a rabid basketball fan she is as she wove play-by-play of high school hoop action into her story.
Now, she writes us, she's publishing a short work in magazine format on the career of Lawrence High School's Cindy Blodgett, who will be playing for UMO's Lady Black Bears this upcoming season.
We're pleased to announce that Tabitha King will be coming to BOOKS-N-THINGS ON Saturday, October 15 to promote the publication of PLAYING LIKE A GIRL: CINDY BLODGETT & THE LAWRENCE BULLDOGS SEASON '93-'94. We'll be filling you in on the exact details a bit later on, so keep watching this space!

Introduction to Computers for Seniors and Others is a beginner level course to be held at the Adult Learning Center on Tuesdays from 1 to 3 p.m. Jeanette Baldrige is the instructor.

Introduction to DOS and Windows will be taught at the Adult Learning Center by Brenda Eastman on Fridays from 7 to 9 p.m. Ms. Eastman will also offer a Word Perfect 6.0 for Windows on Fridays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the center. Keyboarding will be taught by Ruth Brown on Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. and again on Thursdays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. This is the class for anyone who would like to learn to use the keyboard for computer work or typing as well as for those interested in improving their speed and accuracy.

Courses in Word Perfect 6.0 (DOS version) will be taught by Ms. Brown on Tuesdays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m.

Lotus 1-2-3 will be the subject of a course taught by Lois Ruff on Wednesdays from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Adult Learning Center. This popular spreadsheet program is used in many workplaces and the course is open to those with a working knowledge of IBM-compatible computers. There are places remaining in an introductory computer class to be held at the Andover School from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. on Mondays. All computer classes have a fee of $25. The selection will be repeated later in the fall starting the week of Nov. 7. Please specify date when registering.

Business

A laboratory-style course in Record Keeping and Accounting will be offered this fall by Cynthia Kelley. This course allows participants to select the appropriate level from record keeping, accounting I and accounting II and to work independently under the guidance of the instructor. The course will run through mid-December, with students selecting the number of weeks necessary to complete their goal. The fee is $20 plus books. Notary Public training will be offered on Thursday, Sept. 22 from 7 to 9 p.m., free of charge, with Merton Brown as the instructor. Pre-registration is required.

Writing

Two courses are planned in Creative Writing this fall. Creative writing will meet from 1 to 4 p.m. on Thursdays at the Adult Learning Center. Jeanette Baldrige is the instructor for this 10-week workshop for beginning and advanced writers including class instruction and evaluation.

The Women's Writing Group will meet from 1 to 3 p.m. on Wednesdays for 10 weeks. This class, taught by Jeanette Baldrige, explores issues of special concern to women using the writing process. Course fees are $20.

Foods

An exciting new course will make its debut during the week of Sept.

19. The Traveling Gourmet with Ann Morton will present weekly tastes of the culture and cuisine of eight different countries during the course. Class participants will select the country from a list including China, Mexico, Russia, Israel, France, Greece, Italy, England, Ireland, Egypt, Spain and Germany, and Ms. Morton, a veteran traveler, will prepare a smorgasbord of slides. Food of the country will be prepared by participants at home and brought in to share. The class will meet on Mondays from 6:30 to 9 p.m. The fee is $20.

Advanced Cake Decorating will be the topic of a course offered on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. by Sarah Craig. Participants will learn advanced flower-making while decorating cupcakes, cakes, and assembling a small-tiered cake, plus a color-flow design. A supply list is available from the office for the first class. Fee is $20.

Practical skills

Woodworking features the safe use of hand and power tools in the Telstar wood lab under the direction of Tim O'Connor. Students work on projects of their choice, and should come to the first class with plans or a concept of their project. The class meets on Wednesdays from 6 to 9 p.m. The fee is $20 plus a lab fee of $15.

Practical Electricity is the course designed to satisfy the "fix-it urge" for students. The class will begin with the repair of small appliances and move on to aspects of household wiring, as well as gaining the knowledge to be specific when hiring a licensed electrician. Tom Ford is the instructor for this Monday night class, meeting from 6:30 to 9 p.m. He is a master electrician in New Hampshire and Maine. The fee is $20.

Small Engines Maintenance and Repair will be taught on Tuesdays by Ed Solar. The course will meet on Tuesdays from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. and will cover air-cooled two- and four-cycle Briggs and Stratton engines, including lawn mowers, snow blowers, pumps and generators. The fee is $20.

Chair Seating will be offered on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. taught by Hans Paulsen. Participants will repair chairs using their choice of cane, rush or splint. The fee is $20 plus lab of $1.

Arts

Wood Carving is a perennial favorite at Telstar taught by veteran instructor Mike Murphy. He will offer a choice of projects; the Tuesday class will work on spear-fishing decoys and the Thursday class will produce a one-half size loon. Both classes run from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., with fees of $20 plus a lab fee of $15.

Stained Glass will be offered on Thursdays from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. under the direction of Robin Fraser. Participants will work on projects of their choice learning lead and foil techniques. The course fee is $20 with a $10 lab fee.

Quilting is back at the Adult Learning Center with the featured quilt being the Jacob's Fan pattern. The level is intermediate and the course will make use of fast cutting and machine piecing techniques, taught by Catherine Calef. The actual sewing is done at home for a full-size quilt. Finishing includes embroidery and appliques. The class meets on Wednesday mornings from 9 to 11. Fee is $20.

Smocking is a lovely technique for the decoration of garments for all ages; participants will learn how to smock, to select color combinations, and to adapt convention patterns to include smocking. Projects might include little girls' dresses, Christmas ornaments, adult clothing, or pillows for home decoration. Nancy Grover is the instructor on Thursdays at the Adult Learning Center from 7 to 9 p.m. Fee is $20.

Fitness

Aerobics classes will be held at the Adult Learning Center, with a choice of times including Wednesday and Friday afternoons, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, and Wednesday mornings at Crescent Park School from 6 to 7 a.m. Call the office for details, as classes are filling up.

Fitness for 50-plus is a twice-a-week activity session for the active person with Ruth Feeney leading sessions which include vigorous outdoor activities such as hiking and walking, as well as indoor sessions of warm-up, stretching and movement. Classes are Monday and Thursday mornings at the Adult Learning Center from 10 to 11. Fee is $20.

Volleyball for Adults is set to begin on Wednesday, Sept. 21, in the Telstar gym from 7 to 9 p.m. The fee is $1 per night or $5 for eight weeks. This is a fun evening of coed volleyball with Rhonda Buker as the coordinator.

Badminton for Adults will meet on Mondays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. starting Sept. 12. Join at any time for a fast workout with some real competitors, $5 for eight weeks. Yoga will be held at the Adult Learning Center with an early morning class from 7 to 8:30 on Wednesdays, and a Monday evening class from 5:30 to 7. Call Janet Willic at 824-3889 for information.

Video and Photography

Color Photography will be taught by Tim Mills, who will instruct participants in improving their use of 35mm cameras. The class is open to beginners and veterans and will stress the use of viewfinder, basic operating skills, and techniques of composition. The class will meet on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. Fee is $20.

Video Camera Techniques will be taught by Tom Remington of the Public Access Station, Channel IV. Participants will learn to operate a video camera for best results using their own equipment or that belonging to Channel IV. The course will meet on Tuesdays for four weeks. Fee is $20.

Other

Hunter Safety will be offered on Sept. 20, 22, 27, and 29, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Telstar, with a Saturday session on Sept. 24. Don Feeney is the instructor. Youth 13 and under must be accompanied by an adult. Private pilot ground school, preparation for the FAA written test will be offered on Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30. The fee is $65 which includes books.

A Basic Bartending course will be offered in Bethel this fall by Central Maine Technical College starting on Saturday, Sept. 10, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The course will be held at the Sudbury Inn and is offered in cooperation with Adult Education. The instructor will be Larry Risko.

To register for any of the above courses, call the Adult Education office at 824-2780.

KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuition, area athletes expenses, disabled individual needs, etc.

If you're cleaning the garage, attic or cellar, let us get rid of those unwanted items for you. Call Roger Conant, 824-2131 or 824-2269 for pickup.

Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

SONGO POND MINE EXPANDS—Jan Bernstein of the Songo Pond Mining Corp works a hydraulic hammer on a newly exposed pegmatite at the mine. The original pegmatite dike has been mined out, Bernstein said. Several aquamarine crystals were taken out of it last spring and summer. A bulldozer came in recently and cleared off more pegmatite areas. The rock ledge will be blasted in search of more crystals. Bernstein said early indicators are that the new areas will yield more aquamarine crystals. One of the crystals from the mine was recently featured on the cover of "Rock and Gem" magazine. Much of the granite blasted at the mine has been used in local building projects, Bernstein said. "We're going to be up here for a number of years," he said. "We should get really good aquamarine, maybe even better than we got in the other area. There's no reason to think we won't."

Town voters are asked to vote on Tuesday regarding the proposed tax case. All voters are urged to cast ballot as voters must respond to the town to utilize funds to pay the tax increase. A special meeting will be held on Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Town Hall at 10 a.m. to discuss the tax situation. The meeting at the Town Hall will occur from 11 a.m. until 8 p.m. Anyone interested to cast a vote on Saturday is asked to contact Phyllis at the Town Office at 392-3302, or stop by the office, to obtain an absentee ballot. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Simmons and their children Kier and Christopher of Plymouth of Prince Edward Island, Canada, spent several days last week visiting with Mrs. Grace Simmons and other relatives in East Andover. They returned home on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Anderson and Grace Simmons accompanied them to Darnby, P.E.I., where they spent several days with relatives.

Happy 18th Birthday to Robin Palmer who will be celebrating the birthday on Sept. 7. Robin's address is: 81 College Station Drive, Cumberland College, Lonsburg, KY 40642-1382.

Sympathy is extended to the Arsenault family for the death of Joe. Mr. and Mrs. Arsenault moved to East Andover following his retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kerchner and family of Wellesley, Mass., were weekend campers at their Richardson Lake cottage. Remember to get out and vote on Tuesday!

The Historical Society notes that the writer Proust creates sensitive atmosphere in his novels. The society studies the great achievements of Western Civilization. We should all learn to appreciate them. The society preserves and promotes the best we have to offer, and it offers interesting perspectives on many subjects. Curator Larry Billings has given a model car, a toy and a book to the society. The next meeting is Sept. 10.

The Universalist Church of Bryant Pond will reopen Sunday, Sept. 11, for 9 a.m. worship service with the Rev. Earl McKinney from Gray as guest speaker.

The Bryant Pond Baptist Church meets each Sunday with Sunday School for all ages at 9:45 a.m., morning service at 10:30 a.m., and evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening prayer meetings are held at 7 p.m. There will be special meetings on Sept. 25 and 28, with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hobson and Debbie Burke. Tuesday, at 4 p.m. is Bryant Pond hour on Channel IV T.V.

Joseph and Maggie Hoyt visited their dad, James Hoyt, on Monday and Tuesday.

Sympathy is extended to Mary and Bob Billings and family in the loss of her brother, also to Louisa and Earl Noyes and family in the loss of her sister.

Judith Grover Tent 17 D.U.V. will meet on Monday, Sept. 12, with a silent auction and tasting party.

School has started; watch out for the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway called on Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Jordan and Olive Elliot on Tuesday.

West Bethel

By CONSTANCE BROADBENT

Dear Thalassa;

I took up my gathering basket this morning and headed out to the gardens that surround the pool. Actually I took up my egg basket... the one that I made in the class with Jane H. one winter... the gathering basket was filled with magazines and sundries. As I poked about in the greenery, lifting large squash leaves in hopes of finding large squashes, I kept a singular eye on the sparkling things that dot this and every landscape in the neighborhood, only slightly hopeful of coming upon that little diamond gem that jumped from my hand last summer... but to no avail. The stone will be part of the story of the land when the new owner assumes title, I guess. All the sparkling things were myriad chips of mica...ah me...

Meanwhile, under the large squash leaves, I found several decent though not very large squashes, many plump cucumbers, and enough bush beans to feed the third world. It figures! I plant these things, not necessarily for sustenance but for show... they provide a nice green backdrop or centerpiece if you will for the flowers that are my passion. If by some miracle, a few vegetables choose to thrive, so much the better. As I told Alfred last week... "I plant edibles for their greenery to fill in the spaces... If I want veggies to eat, I can raid your garden, or Arthur's or Jane's or Keith's or Rupert's, or Raymond's..."

Nevertheless, while we look around the hilltop at the glory of the tall phlox, the endless hedges of thyme, the magnificence of the dinner-plate dahlias, and the quaint drooping of the echinacea (cone flower in plain talk), the tomatoes ripen in rapid succession, the pole beans climb and spread their viny camouflage along the fence, the hot peppers droop in ripeness among the little acorn squashes (just what does one do with those pungent peppers once they're ready?)...

Up back, or up front, whatever your point of view of the view, there is a level spot that once served Faye Taylor and her kids as a flat space for playing whatever ball games could be played on a flat space as opposed to a field. These days, said flat space provides a haven for left-over perennials, excess bulbs of the flowering variety, a few extra fruits and vegetables that didn't fit elsewhere, the big compost cylinder and the not-so-big compost pile. The birds have been very accommodating in their pursuit of the ultimate sunflower brunch; they've dropped seeds from the feeders onto the flat space (and in all the gardens elsewhere). Those seeds have germinated and now the plants sport lovely large yellow flowers. It goes without saying, that if I wanted sunflowers to grow, and if I deliberately planted Mr. Burpee's finest seeds, I would still be waiting for the scrawny seedlings to enjoy their growth spurt! My success as a gardener is inversely proportional to the amount of energy not invested and the expectation of fruition not held. I guess that the attitude of 'laissez faire' encourages growth in some kind of reverse plant psychology.

In testimony to this approach on non-involvement, we non-gardeners have discovered an enormous couple of plants bearing enormous green squash-type leaves growing out of the not-so-enormous compost pile. Keeping in mind the fact that neither of us placed any seeds in that section of the aforementioned flat space, and neither of us has yet to identify which species of squash is actually growing in such profusion, we are delighted each day to watch the progress of the great green leaves as they meander out of the pile and over the grass to the next deliberate plantings as if on some kind of mission of 'show and tell'!

Those great green leaves are now traversing the row that contained the 'leftovers'. They sit in communion with the three honeysuckles and the two watermelons that actually dared to thrive up there. (Arthur should be proud of our success; he gave us the seedlings and the helpful hints; we placed the dark plastic, set the plants, and promptly forgot what they were until their rotund greenness reminded us.) We actually have a melon patch of sorts!

So you see, dear grower of the serious intent, there is something to be said for the alternative agriculture that is practiced on the Flat Road on a hillside overlooking the true farms and the true farmers. While the Lyons and the Littlefields hover over the macs and the red delicious, we speak blithely to the four or five trees that make up our orchard, spray occasionally, prune seldom, and never ever expect to see a pear or a cherry or an apple on a branch. Sometimes the expectations are met; sometimes nature defies us and fruit of the edible variety appears! ... Random is nice!

We'll continue to plant while this hill is ours; we'll continue to watch from the distance of our 'little people' workshop as the unexpected happens. We'll continue to sing the praises of nature and the force that guides it in our church and our grange and in other peoples' churches and granges. And when we need more than one cucumber at a time, we'll hie our hides down to Alfred's flat space.

Take good care of your crops; continue to teach the rest of the would-be-gardeners how to do it your way. We applaud your efforts while we eschew your methods. And now I'm off to the gathering thing once again. This time it's out to the mini-orchard to harvest the apples. I guess I'll take the little bread basket this time... it should hold all seven, don't you think?

Catch you during the winter solstice!
Love,
C.B.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

It's a beautiful evening, calm and free, breathless with adoration. The sun is sinking down in its tranquility. There is the dance of the daisies and the far-off hills where shadows lie.

I'm thinking of my ride with two friends this week, Aug. 24. I see them but once a year, for they do not live in Maine. Larry and Jean come for a Maine visit to a cottage here each summer and we travel for the day.

See GREENWOOD CITY, page 7

The day was perfect, and we left Greenwood at 10 o'clock and traveled to Trap Corner and toward Sumner.

One of the first things we noticed was the tearing down of an old barn. We remarked about it because the last time we came this way they seemed to be doing the same thing. It brought to mind a poem I once learned: "Just an old barn beside the road/With weathered board all bent and bowed..."

We traveled roads down country lanes, where the sides were covered by trees; some reaching to clasp hands above us.

The ferns were living laces that added elegance wherever they grew. Their graceful fronds were divided to produce a delicate pattern.

We passed through many little towns, with lovely places, cool wide streets and friendly faces.

The flowing waters of the Androscoggin River were interesting to watch.

We continued on until we came to where we planned to go, "Lornell Gardens," in Jay. Anyone who wants to see beauty should go there. Nature blooms in glory, a fairyland for all to wander through. I had never seen a garden like it.

After a time we left for lunch, then more roads with views of water and trees. At times we weren't sure where we were, but it turned out well and we arrived safely home.

I have lived the trip over and over and seen the garden in my dreams.

I shall surely remember always this ride and these friends. They are enduring treasures, rare jewels, that fill my chest. The day has filled the golden pages of my book of memories.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cogswell of Freeport visited Rena Curtis recently.

Fay Holt spent Thursday with her son David at his home in Norway. He is just home from the hospital.

On Thursday, I joined our group of teachers for a day's outing: Lettie Brooks, Dot Betts, Avis Stielhorn, Louie Coffin and Dot Ross met after lunch at Beryl Bonney's cottage.

Recently, John and Dot Betts attended an affirmation of wedding vows in Lynn, Mass. A friend's son exchanged vows with a Korean girl.

Greenwood City

The day was perfect, and we left Greenwood at 10 o'clock and traveled to Trap Corner and toward Sumner.

One of the first things we noticed was the tearing down of an old barn. We remarked about it because the last time we came this way they seemed to be doing the same thing. It brought to mind a poem I once learned: "Just an old barn beside the road/With weathered board all bent and bowed."....

We traveled roads down country lanes, where the sides were covered by trees; some reaching to clasp hands above us.

The ferns were living laces that added elegance wherever they grew. Their graceful fronds were divided to produce a delicate pattern.

We passed through many little towns, with lovely places, cool wide streets and friendly faces.

The flowing waters of the Androscoggin River were interesting to watch.

We continued on until we came to where we planned to go, "Lornell Gardens," in Jay. Anyone who wants to see beauty should go there. Nature blooms in glory, a fairland for all to wander through. I had never seen a garden like it.

After a time we left for lunch, then more roads with views of water and trees. At times we weren't sure where we were, but it turned out well and we arrived safely home.

I have lived the trip over and over and seen the garden in my dreams.

I shall surely remember always this ride and these friends. They are enduring treasures, rare jewels, that fill my chest. The day had filled the golden pages of my book of memories.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cogswell of Freeport visited Rena Curtis recently.

Fay Holt spent Thursday with her son David at his home in Norway. He is just home from the hospital.

On Thursday, I joined our group of teachers for a day's outing: Lettie Brooks, Dot Betts, Avis Stellhorn, Louvie Coffin and Dot Ross met after lunch at Beryl Bonney's cottage.

Recently, John and Dot Betts attended an affirmation of wedding vows in Lynn, Mass. A friend's son exchanged vows with a Korean girl.

His vows were given in Korean and hers were given in English, just opposite from their vows given in Korea. Ricky Hathaway is an engineer for Habitat for Humanity in the Pacific rim. A reception was given for them by his sister when they both appeared in Korean garb.

Tiny silver diamonds danced roughly across the turquoise blue waters of South Pond as I viewed them from the porch of Tina Chase's camp last week. The golden sunshine peeked through the emerald green of the birch trees, enhanced by the darker somber pines that guarded them. A lively little chipmunk scampered about searching for lost crumbs, and a family of ducks swam about the shoreline, honking now and then excitedly as they, too, found a tidbit to share among themselves. From my vantage point, I could look down the lake to Abbott's Campgrounds, with its sandy beaches, and see a fisherman trolling in the distance.

What a peaceful and serene spot to be in. My daughter Sandra and her family enjoyed the camp from the 27th of August to Sept. 3. And what a wonderful week that was. In 1944, when the camp was owned by the late Florence Cushman, my parents also vacationed there. I was 14, and my brother was overseas. My cousin, the late Dorthea Hooper joined us there. So this cottage holds many dear memories for me. In the '80s my husband and I also hired the camp, and my son, who had been in California for five years, came home as a complete surprise to all of us -- and we had a joyous reunion. We could not all be together this year, as some were working or away, but I enjoyed seeing my grandchildren and their friends, who in my opinion are exceptionally nice young people.

We had some good old cribbage games and played horseshoes and shared quite a few belly-laughs together. Thanks, Sandra, for "making" my summer. It will be a highlight in my life to be remembered over the long winter months.

Good Luck and God Bless to all my readers as we begin to prepare for the long months ahead.

Some of the children who started this school year and are going to the brand new Crescent Park School are: Brittany Cole, Matthew Sweetser and Brandon James. They were all excited to be going off to school and boarding the big, yellow bus. Brittany Cole found a cocoon of a Monarch butterfly and took that along to be placed on the science table.

Kathy Cole, accompanied by Nancy Cross recently attended a concert at Old Orchard Beach.

Kathy Cole has new employment as a home visitor for Community Concepts and will be located in the North Jay area. She will be making the long commute of 53 miles daily. On bad days, she tells me, she will stay overnight at her brother Dennis' home in North Jay.

Hugh Chapman has left his duties at the Western Maine Lumber store to accept a position as a janitor at the new Crescent Park School.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Noyes' son has moved to Connecticut where he has employment. He will make his home with the Roger Corriveau, Jr. family, formerly of this town.

Mildred McLain spent her 85th birthday quietly at her home here on the 27th. On Sunday, the 28th, she was guest of honor at a family party. Previous to that, Audrey Franklyn entertained Millie as a guest of honor at an early birthday luncheon at her home here on the 26th. Millie seemed to enjoy herself immensely, as did all of us.

Word has been received from my granddaughter Kelsey Cross, who has just begun her first year of higher education at St. Michael's College in Colchester, VT, that it is a beautiful campus, she likes her roommate and is very happy there. Hang in there, Kelsey, and go for it. Our best wishes go with you.

Would you Gilead people like news of other families besides my own? (I would!) Please call me with anything. I've discovered that a news column is like being a dentist. You have to pull hard to get to the root of things and the patient says ouch if you do -- and "ouch" if you don't.

P.S. I give novocaine. Don't hesitate to call. I promise it won't hurt! Telephone: 836-3673.

Claribel Poland had many surprises for her birthday this past week. There was a surprise party, set up by her children and friends, at Mollycckett Market Place. She spent most of the day there visiting friends and relatives that stopped by to wish her a Happy Birthday. She received bouquets, many cards and money. A cake was served to those who stopped by along with other goodies. Claribel wants to thank all who remembered her so well.

Rosalie Poland took Claribel on a trip to Lewiston for her birthday and bought her a new wardrobe. Claribel received calls from her daughter Beverly Dayton in Florida and granddaughter Leilani, who also lives in Florida. Evelyn Dunn called from New Hampshire. What a nice way to spend your 82nd birthday. Claribel is my sister-in-law and quite a lady. She can run circles around almost anyone I know and looks years younger than her 82 years. Happy Birthday, Claribel. Many more.

A Willing Workers' meeting will be held at the Union Church, Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 6:15 p.m. This will be a potluck supper meeting for members or anyone who would like to attend. These are always fun and tasty.

Barbara Cash is still in the hospital and has had another operation. I'm sure a card would cheer her up. Her address is: Maine Medical Center, 22 Bramhall Street, Portland, ME 04102-9954. Good luck, Barbara, hope you're feeling better soon.

A small birthday party was held at Richard and Andrea Wing's home for Brad Record last Saturday night. Apple pie and ice cream was served. Those attending were: Richard and Andrea Wing, Rick and Karen Wing, Kellie, Sarah and Jessie Hart, Jenny and Lindsey Record and Brad.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Crus have been staying at their camp in Perkins Valley for a week. They are from Rhode Island and like to get to Maine whenever possible.

September birthdays: Doug Wing, Jaime Leonard, Walter Appleby III, MaudeAlice Hadley, Samantha Poland, Rick Wing, Ricky Mack and Buster Poland. There's probably some I forgot; will try to get to them next time.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, notes that Stanley Cooperman once wrote of the novelist James Joyce, "The artist seeks the special language necessary to render his vision of the world into something that can be experienced directly by the reader." He also adds that the society helps make history as well as record it.

Tommy Poland is having a major overhaul done on her house. She has had a new window installed to replace the picture window, metal roofing, and is now having a light beige vinyl siding installed. It sure looks beautiful. Tim Poland and Perry Ryerson are doing the siding.

Pam Benson has a new mobile on her lot on Route 26. I drove by today to see it, and it looks very nice. I'm sure she'll enjoy it.

School started today at Telstar. Jessie Hart is staying with me in the mornings to catch the bus. Jessie is in the eighth grade. I'm sure all the children are really glad to get back to the school work, even though some say no.

I was pleased to see that the new principal of Telstar Middle School is Richard Blackman. Mr. Blackman was my teacher a few years ago when I took some courses thru Husson College at Mexico High School. Leslie Thurlow stopped by Sunday morning for a short dooryard call with Richard Wing.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that animals can sometimes warm your heart better than people can."

Ras Bachelder celebrated his birthday on Sunday with his wife Karlene, Lia, Luke, Keith Durgin and Gil Seeley. He said he was 29, but I didn't believe him. We enjoyed a turkey supper with the trimmings and cake and ice cream. "Best Wishes and Pleasant Memories," P.S. Lia also celebrated her birthday a few weeks ago, and guess who made the cake! You guessed it...it was Keith...I think I will hire him to bake my cake in October.

Although "Good Neighbors' Day" is not until the 14th, mine are already giving me some goodies from their gardens.

The Newry Community Church Ladies Circle will meet at 12:30 p.m. on Monday, the 12th, at president Sylvia Wight's residence.

Also, the Newry Mothers' Club meeting is Monday night, the 12th, at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Building for a tasting party and election of officers.

Happy Birthday to all of you born in the sign of Virgo -- Aug. 24 to Sept. 23.

"Not to be taken too seriously"-- Virgo children come into the world prepared to learn and are ready to communicate. Once grown up, they are addicted to practical material objects but not possessive about them.

They are meticulous, analytical, critical, discriminating, modest, and orderly; however, they can be worriers sometimes, but very dependable, very disciplined and hard workers; they are very health conscious. Their "Motto" is "The happiness of Man consists in life and life is in labor, the vocation of every man and woman is to serve other people." Their colors are blue, slate, violet and soft browns. Their birthstone is the sapphire, which gives courage, good luck and answers to prayers upon the wearer. Their favorite flowers are pussy willows, ivy, evergreens, ferns, tiger lily, zinnia and a wide variety of wild flowers. Their best day is Wednesday, and their lucky place for opportunities is Quebec.

A famous person born in the sign of Virgo is Ann Richards, Governor of Texas.

Kevin Wight, son of Brad and Brenda Wight, started kindergarten this year.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Lucille Largesse had mixed up some icing at her home in Upton, and put the bowl on the seat beside her as she and her husband, Earl, started for the Balsams Hotel where they work. A few miles across into New Hampshire, near the wallow, they met a huge bull moose in the road. When Earl said, "I can't stop in time," Lucille put her hand on the bowl of icing. In that instant, the moose was on the hood crashing the windshield. Both Earl and Lucille were thankful they had their seat belts fastened. The car, although beat up badly, was still "runable" and they turned it around to return to Upton. There was Mr. Moose limping and bleeding but walking down the middle of the road towards Maine. The Largesse's received minor injury, their Lincoln car received major injury. The icing remained intact in the bowl, but as for the moose, if he is still alive, he may well be blocking the road around the next curve, be it day or night.

Ray and Vi enjoyed the company of two daughters, Gige and Jeannie, and granddaughter Elizabeth. Ray is scheduled to have a section of his aorta, which is plugged, replaced by an artificial implant on Sept. 9.

Memory Walk will be held in Scarborough on Oct. 1. Any volunteer contributions toward this will be appreciated. One-hundred percent of the monies received go to the association and stays in Maine.

Some members of the Upton Union Church are wanting to work together with people interested in keeping the building beginning with rewiring. Our first fund-raiser will be a cookie swap at the Ladies' Aid Building on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10. Whether or not you bring a batch of cookies, do come in between 2 and 4 p.m. to buy a bagful of your choice, have a cup of coffee and sit a spell to visit.

The Ladies Aid met Tuesday evening after the annual fair. The net results were over $1500, which included the raffles. Lorraine Sessions, whose name was drawn for the first prize, won the quilt. The Afghan went to Matt Michaud of Berlin; Laurianne Baillargeon of Errol got the bride doll; Errol Esterline of Errol won the photo album; handmade pillows went to Don Scott of Natick, Mass.; Mary Kay products to Irving Fogwell; jewelry to Candy O'Neil of Berlin; and, lastly, a rug to Jeannie White of Errol.

Belatedly, this is the "rest of the story." It was C Surplus Pond where the Merchants were enjoying the view when Pam remarked that it was strange they'd seen no moose. Within minutes one great king of the forest was glaring at them, snorting loudly. He swam across the water toward them, shaking his great rack in a very threatening manner. Dean gave a dramatic show and tells of how the beast lifted his long front legs clear out of the water, and as he demonstrated the snorting and head-shaking, I felt an urge to take to cover behind my chair. But then they told of their hasty gathering of waning and flight. Both Dean and Pam have knee problems but quite ignored it when they scrambled up a steep rise. A couple of times they listened for sounds and heard him crashing about in the underbrush. What an exciting video this might have made, but who dares to put "the bell on the cat?"

The school buses are on the roads and highways again, so be extra alert for all the little folks, and bigger ones, too.

These morning temperatures of upper 30s are giving us warning of what is to come, but I'm not ready!

Recent callers here have been Mrs. Dottie Adams and daughter Erin of Hanover, and friend Daryl of Mexico, Kass and Kathy Gatchell from Portland, Jeff and Lisa Coleman from Seattle, Wash., who are spending their honeymoon at The Cape in Otisfield. Lisa was employed there for a couple of summers a few years ago. Mrs. Ethel Turner was a caller Thursday afternoon.

Matt and Shirley Keene from Hilton, N.Y., with their daughters Ashlea and Audrey spent a day recently visiting with "Nana" Wentzell. Other visitors at the Wentzell cottage have been Edith and Percy Whitney from New Castle, N.H., and Stan and Margaret Ellsworth from New Harbor, with their granddaughters Kate, Kristen, and Sibyl.

Live each day so that you will neither be afraid of tomorrow nor ashamed of yesterday.

Emma Billings arrived home from the hospital last week. Among the visitors to her house this week were Faye Roberts, Irene Redman, Norma Heikkinen, Veikko Tiiranan, Phyllis Lowe, and Beth Abbott. Emma went to the doctor's with her daughter Sue, yesterday, and is doing fine.

The Silvers went to Santa's Village and had a fun time. Joelle reports that her kitten loves blueberry yogurt!

On Sunday, Aug. 28, the Pinhook Meeting House held its annual meeting. Officers elected were: Herschel Abbott, president; Ed Gammon, vice president; Louise Chapman, secretary; and Norma Davis, treasurer. Members present included the newly elected officers, as well as Beth Abbott, Jackie Gammon, Rob Davis, Kara Jacques, Robert and Wilma Day, and Becky Ricker. The members voted to continue monthly hymn sings; these will be held on the last Friday of each month at 7 p.m.

School has started and it was nice to see all of my friends. That's it from North Woodstock this week.

Howdy, folks. This is a lovely Monday morning, and it reminds me how lucky we are, as Mother Nature will soon be changing it all and giving us more of that cold, miserable weather. I, for one, am not looking forward to any of that.

While Peggy was at work last Monday, one of my chores was cutting broccoli and preparing it to be frozen until needed. I had it done and was just washing my dirty dishes when Peggy got home.

Peggy had errands down street Tuesday forenoon, but I stayed at home. Mid-afternoon, we headed for Locke Mills American Legion Hall, where we planned to enjoy the Musical Supper and other festivities that they had planned for the evening. We were there early, but those that were to entertain were supposed to be there ready to eat at 5 p.m. They had a very nice supper and entertainment that followed. I was asked to speak one of my pieces, which I did to help out. The variety show lasted for quite some time and dancing followed it. I'm sure that most of the people that attended this show will want to attend the next one, which they are now planning for late September.

They gave away some door prizes at the Musical Supper, and I was one of the lucky winners. I won a large pizza from Breau's in Bethel or Bryant Pond. One of these days Peggy and I will be dining on pizza.

Wednesday morning, we went to Stephens Memorial Hospital, where I had blood tests at about 9 a.m., and then we went on to Auburn to visit sister Viva at the Odd Fellows Nursing Home. They had Viva dressed and out in the dining area along with lots of other patients. A lady was reading part of the morning paper to them, and after she finished doing that she had those that could and would do some exercises with their arms and legs. Viva watched them but didn't try to do any of the exercises.

After visiting Viva we went to visit the Bernard Whites and had lunch with them. Other company came, and we visited for a short while before returning home.

Thursday morning was nice and the Whites came up from Auburn to give us some help. Myrna gave Peggy a home permanent and Whitey helped me seal leaks in the roof, before mowing the lawns for us. We sealed the leaks with GEOCEL, which is a clear liquid that is painted over the leaks and it looks like plastic.

While talking with Linda Jack of Norway on Thursday evening, she told me that Norway Grange would be working degrees on Sept. 24 and 25. If other Granges have candidates, this might be a good time for them to get degrees.

I have been asked to take the master's part when working the 3rd and 4th degrees on Sept. 25. These meetings will start at 6 p.m.

When Peggy returned from doing her card work in Bridgton on Friday, she called at the hospital to visit Helen Chase from Locke Mills. Helen expected to return to her son's home the next day. Her hip is doing just fine.

We visited Richard and Barbara Felt on Friday evening.

Peggy baked some more zucchini pies Saturday morning, while I picked shell beans. After shelling, washing and blanching we had 17 pint containers of shell beans to put into the freezer. We still have lots more to pick.

Peggy attended the dance at Locke Mills Town Hall on Saturday evening.

We visited Richard and Barbara Felt on Friday evening.

Sunday afternoon, we attended the 90th Year Celebration at Alder River Grange Hall in East Bethel. We enjoyed the delicious supper, some of which was cooked on an outside grill by their incoming master, James Lowe. The supper was served in the dining hall and the program that followed was held outside on the lawn. Membership certificates were presented to Leslie Noyes and Fay Kimball, for 65 years of continual membership in the Grange, by deputy Connie Tuttle. The State Grange master, Clyde Berry, was invited but didn't get there until the meeting was nearly over. It was a nice celebration and we enjoyed it.

The ladies of West Paris Grange are already planning a Craft, Food and White Elephant Sale to be held in their dining hall on Oct. 15.

There will be a dance at Locke Mills Town Hall on Sept. 10, with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra.

Hope Lovejoy spent Saturday night with a friend, Jenny Laufer, in Oxford.

Hope has finished selling blueberries at the Haverine Farms in South Paris.

The purpose of the Friends' group is to help in raising money for special projects and needs at the library, to encourage library usage by both students and adults, to promote endowments, memorials, etc., and to supply volunteers for the library.

Projects are geared to the needs of the community and its school. The Friends are going to be looking for interesting programs and exhibits.

Trustees Peggy Perham, Dede Chase, Ruth Pray, Richard Perham, and Ida Gurney were assisted by Friends Heather Theofaston, Jessica Farrar, Martha Day, Lempi Cyr, Olga Gellady, Pat Makley in conducting a very successful bake and book sale. Many others in the community donated food items. Sayward Lamb and Cynthia Lamb exhibited their crafts, Joe Perham and Donald Pray were on hand also.

A successful Friends group will need many members of all ages and interests, and we are looking for enthusiastic people with varied ideas who are willing to come together to discuss and plan activities for the coming year. The second Wednesday of each month at 6 p.m. in the downstairs room has been tentatively set as the regular meeting night, but if it is found to be inconvenient for too many, another time and date can be arranged. The next meeting of the Friends will be held on Sept. 14 at 6 p.m. It is planned to select a committee to plan the planting of annual and perennial flowers next spring. We hope to have donations to cover the cost of the plants.

Story time plans will be developed by Pat Makley and Peggy Perham.

EDUCATIONAL GROUP FOR VIOLENT MALE ABUSERS

In conjunction with the district court and Probation and Parole, the Abused Women's Advocacy Project is starting an education group for men who are domestic violence abusers. The first regular session will be Tuesday, Sept. 13, after two sessions for intake and orientation. All sessions will be at the Mexico Congregational Church.

The six-month program, based on the Duluth, Minn., model, stresses that battering is a system of abusive behaviors which are used to maintain control over one's partner. Our culture has sanctioned men's use of violence to maintain dominance in relationships with partners, but now the law says violence in the home is a crime. There are alternatives to violence. Individual men can change and can learn these alternatives. The educational structure of the new batterers' group will help men learn these alternatives.

Most of the group participants will be mandated by the court to complete the 26 sessions because of domestic violence assault convictions. There are also openings for self-referred men. For information about time and cost for the group or to enroll, call 369-0750 or 743-5806.

The Abused Women's Advocacy Project currently has under its auspices three groups for batterers in the Lewiston-Auburn area. The new group in Rumford comes in response to requests from the judge and the criminal justice system in Oxford County.

Besides the batterers' groups, AWAP has an emergency safe shelter, a 24-hour hotline (1-800-559-2927), a court advocacy program and outreach offices in Farmington, Rumford and Norway.

The Summer Reading Program field trip to Discovery Zone in Portland was a great success. Thanks to the 58 children who went on the trip for their enthusiasm and spirit; to the parents for supporting them in their reading all summer; and to Jim Trefethen, Julie Hart, Marilyn Swan, Suzanne Howe, Vickie Coolidge, Amanda Gilbert, Brandi Brooks, and Becky Chandler for chaperoning the Portland trip. Once again, the trip was only possible through the generous donations of Crescent Park School PTA, the Bethel Rotary Club, and the American Legion.

Congratulations to all the children who completed the program: Jake Largess, Adam Largess, Charles Dresser, Priscilla Thurston, Ricky Szent, Wade Osgood, Laura Pivin, Mikey Swan, Bion Swan, Billy Murphy, Lindsay Hart, Lauren Hart, Kane Olson, Margaret DuPlessis, Ray Crockett, Casey Fleet, Sarah Swan, Andy Aloisio, Shawn Crockett, Caroline Raymond, Karl Olson, Jay Aloisio, Jeff Gavett, Jeremy Gibbs, Jay Hanscom, Adam Hanscom, Eric Hanscom, Joel Doyon, Finnian Donovan, Naomi Fraser, Danny Koris, Renzo Baker, Brandi Figueroa, Kurt Wight, Sarah Page, Mallory Brown, Jason Heath, Justine Carver, Ashley Oliver, Eben Kallin, Jessica Parker, Kate Caddigan, Sean Caddigan, Santana Wilson, Ben Dohmann, Chelsea Marshall, Bill Marshall, Andy Lowe, Lauren Hansen, Ashley Brooks, Travis Brooks, Amanda Miclon, Jason Howe, Briney Howe, Ryan Trefethen, Adam Dumont, Simon Dumont, Jaqui Wheeler, Cassie Mason, Gabriela Johnson, Andrew Raymond, Sarah Gamble, Jon Howe, Seth Howe, Forest DuPlessis, Christopher DuPlessis, Brian Zinchuk, Kevin Zinchuk, Katie Reed, Elizabeth Reed, Riley Gilbert.

NOTES FROM Telstar Middle School Guidance

The Middle School guidance office opened on the 22nd of August to prepare for the upcoming school year. Eight new students have been registered since that time. Schedule changes and teacher packets were updated for the Aug. 31 start of school.

Mrs. Hannon attended the sixth-grade parent night on the 25th and shared two new improvements in the guidance services for that grade level this year. First, in an attempt to improve on student responsibility levels, including organizational skills and time management, the guidance department purchased "assignment books" for all of the sixth-graders. The book concentrates on goal setting, attendance and effort, homework and follow-up to homework. A special section relating to television is geared to help parents and teachers assist students develop good judgment and responsible viewing habits regarding the use of television. The students were given their assignment books on the first morning, and it is hoped that teachers, parents and students will learn many things applicable to a smoother transition from elementary school to the middle school.

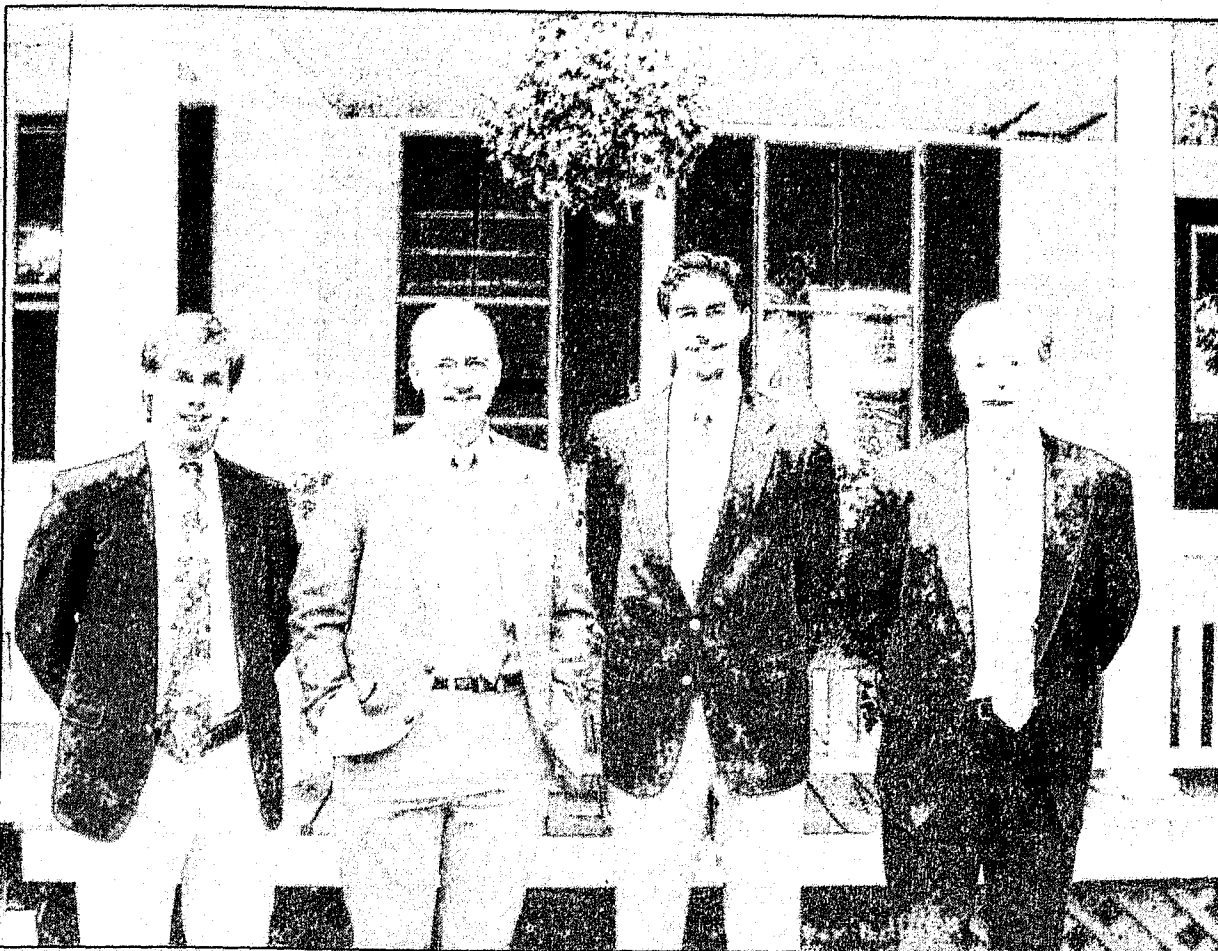

The second service that will be introduced this year to all sixth-graders is the "Get a Life Portfolio." The NOVA 2000 training of counselors will be done in October, and parent volunteers will be trained in November for follow-through during the year. Four sixth-grade parents have volunteered already for the second training.

Mrs. Hannon has scheduled a parent night with the district health coordinator for Sept. 15. Adolescents and self-esteem will be the guidance topic, while Mrs. Swan is planning on reviewing the health curriculum for sixth-graders.

MEA's are scheduled for the weeks of Oct. 24-Nov. 4. The guidance department is looking forward to a busy and productive year with your youngsters.

New faculty welcomed at Gould

Five new faculty members were greeted at a Gould Academy reception at the Sudbury Inn last Wednesday, officially kicking off the school year. New students arrive this week for four days of orientation before classes begin Monday, Sept. 12.

Tim LaVallee returns to Gould after a 10-year hiatus which included coaching positions with the U.S. Ski Team, University of Colorado, and Bates College. LaVallee has settled back on campus to direct the multi-level alpine program. He brings extensive experience from working with serious student-athletes in NCAA Division I programs, and an understanding of the appropriate role of sports in an academic setting. He has two daughters, Marcy '98 and Becky. He lives in Winthrop with his wife, Suzanne.

Chris Moore comes to Gould as an intern in the mathematics department. Having spent many summers as a counselor at youth basketball camps, he is well prepared for his role as a dormitory counselor in Holden Hall. Moore was selected as an All-American basketball player at the University of California at San Diego, where he earned his degree in sociology and economics. In addition to teaching and his dormitory responsibilities, he will be seen on the fields and courts coaching soccer and basketball.

Thomas O. Shepard teaches mathematics and computer science and coaches lacrosse and basketball. After working as an engineer at Pratt & Whitney, he switched to teaching and began his career at Kents Hill School where he taught mathematics. A three-year All-American lacrosse player at Rochester Institute of Technology and an assistant varsity lacrosse coach at Trinity College, He brings a wealth of knowledge, enthusiasm and commitment to Gould's athletic program. He rounds out his responsibilities as a dormitory counselor in Davidson Hall.

Kurt J. Simard joins Gould Academy as the head J1 and J11 alpine coach. A former U.S. Ski Team development skier, Simard is a 1991 graduate of the University of New Hampshire where he was a member and captain of the alpine ski team. He served as the director of the Sunday River Race Program before coming to Gould. In addition to his ski responsibilities, Semard will coach soccer and baseball.

Scott Jerome joins Gould as the director of public affairs. When not taking photos of unsuspecting students, he will head the biathlon program and assist with nordic skiing. Jerome and his fiancée, Denise Gauthier, live in Newry.

Brewery to host scholarship fund concert

The Sunday River Brewing Company will host a concert to benefit the Project Opportunity Scholarship Fund on Sunday, Sept. 18, beginning at 1 p.m. Live music by Denny Breau with Band on the Edge, Doug Alfond and friends, Beyond Reason, Valentine Smith, Keith Hamilton, and others will be featured.

The event will also include an under-the-tent cookout with members of the Bethel Rotary Club doing the cooking.

Sunday River Ski Resort will match the money raised by the concert as part of a long-term pledge to match funds raised in the community for Project Opportunity, up to $20,000 a year for the next five years.

The scholarship program benefits Telstar High School students and graduates. A total of $9,200 in scholarship money was awarded to 20 students from the Class of 1994; similar awards were made to the Class of 1993. The fund's purpose is to aid students in furthering their education regardless of their choice of field.

Project Opportunity also provides funding for Telstar students to take part in enrichment programs while still in high school, such as summer programs at Gould Academy and Bates College.

Advance tickets are available for $5 at Preb's Pharmacy, The Village Sampler, and The Frame Shop in Bethel, Sunday River Ski Resort, and the Sunday River Brewing Company on the corner of Route 2 and the Sunday River Road. Tickets may also be obtained through Bethel Rotary Club members, or at the door on the day of the concert.

Scottish balladeer in Rumford

Carl Peterson brings a rare musical program of authentic Highland charm to Rumford on Tuesday, Sept. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Muskie Auditorium of Mountain Valley High School.

Born and bred in Greenock, Scotland, with 15 published recordings to his credit, folk singer Carl Peterson has toured Canada, Britain, and the United States several times. Audiences in Western Maine will enjoy his slight Scottish brogue and authentic Scottish attire, which add a tangy "breath of heather" to his program.

Peterson is presented by Rumford Community Concert Association, and tickets for the entire season may be purchased at the door. This will entitle the subscriber to four concerts during the year. Others include "Trio Sonata" in October, "Bach With Pluck" in January, and "The Magic of Swing Street" in late February. Prices for a four-concert ticket: $25, $22 (seniors), and $10 (high school and younger). Family tickets are available for $55. For information about this or later concerts, call Jean Hersey at 364-8660.

Northern New England products trade show

Exhibitor applications are now available for the 11th Annual Northern New England Products Trade Show. This juried, wholesale show is open to manufacturers of quality giftware and specialty foods produced in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. The show will be held March 12, 13, and 14, 1995 at the Cumberland County Civic Center and the Portland Exposition Building.

The 1995 show will feature over 300 exhibitors displaying products such as jewelry, toys and games, folk art, gourmet foods, furniture, pottery, and more.

Nearly 3,000 industry buyers are expected to attend this three-day event.

To receive an application to participate or to receive a brochure to attend as a wholesale buyer, call the Maine Small Business Development Center at 780-4420. The application deadline is Oct. 7, 1994.

The show is managed by the Maine Small Business Development Center in cooperation with the University of New Hampshire's Office of Economic Initiatives/Small Business Development Center and the Vermont Small Business Development Center.

DANCE PRODUCTION ON TV

Sunday River TV Channel 7 will show the Children's Dance Theater's spring production of "Our Own Little Mermaid," under the direction of Susan Clement Parrar, at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 13 and Thursday, Sept. 15. The show features local students from the Bethel area, Rumford, and Berlin, N.H.

FOOD AND FUN AT THE UPTON FAIR—recently held its annual summer fair. ing, games, an Elvis impersonator, e mone LaVallee advertised the event wi

SCOUT REGISTRATION

Registration for Junior Girl Scouts and Brownies will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 20, at Crescent Park School from 2 to 4 p.m. Girls in the first, second or third grade may register for Brownies. Girls in the fourth or fifth grade may register for Junior Girl Scouts.

To register, parents must either come to registration to complete paperwork and submit the $6 fee or, if that is impossible, make alternate arrangements with the troop leaders.

Brownies, which is geared toward younger girls, will meet on a regular basis and complete group activities to develop skills and earn Try-Its. Junior Girl Scouts, which is designed for upper elementary students, will meet on a monthly basis on Fridays. In this group the girls work independently and explore individual topics of interest to earn badges.

SCOUT REGISTRATION

Registration for Junior Girl Scouts and Brownies will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 20, at Crescent Park School from 2 to 4 p.m. Girls in the first, second or third grade may register for Brownies. Girls in the fourth or fifth grade may register for Junior Girl Scouts.

To register, parents must either come to registration to complete paperwork and submit the $6 fee or, if that is impossible, make alternate arrangements with the troop leaders.

Brownies, which is geared toward younger girls, will meet on a regular basis and complete group activities to develop skills and earn Try-Its. Junior Girl Scouts, which is designed for upper elementary students, will meet on a monthly basis on Fridays. In this group the girls work independently and explore individual topics of interest to earn badges.

For more information about Junior Girl Scouts, please call Tracy Mason (824-3602) or Linda Gamble (824-3060). Questions about Brownies should be directed to Karen Page (824-2809).

OXFORD YMCA HOSTS MYSTERY DINNER THEATRE

The Oxford Hills YMCA will host a Mystery Dinner Theatre on Saturday, Sept. 17.

"Lights! Camera! Murder!" featuring the Mystery Cafe actors will premier in the Oxford Hills for the first time.

Guests can choose prime rib or baked stuffed haddock for their four-course dinner at the Country Way Restaurant, while solving the comic mystery.

Social hour begins at 6 p.m. with dinner and the show starting at 7 p.m. Tickets are $30 per person and proceeds benefit the YMCA. For more information or ticket reservations call the YMCA at 743-7184.

UNITED METHODIST WOMEN

Fifteen members of United Methodist women met on Thursday, Sept. 1, for the first meeting following summer recess. The meeting was opened by president Virginia Keniston, followed by a reading by Muriel Faudi and repeating of the Lord's Prayer. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were approved, and 86 sick calls were reported.

A thank-you was read from Eva Perry, and Betty Perkins expressed thanks for the cards and gifts following their accident and subsequent hospitalization. Sarah Stevens reported that during the summer the following had been remembered with cards and/or gifts: Eva Perry, Betty Perkins, Diane Cross, Jane Young, Ruth Silver, Mary Angevine, Gus Carter, Chloe Cummings, Harold Powell, Christine Hanscom and Katie Kennagh. Virginia reported that Safer Families had expressed thanks for the dirty bags the UMW had donated. Betty Blake reported on proceeds from the summer Friday Gift Shop.

Discussion included noting corrections in recipes in the Methodist Cook Book and plans for a luncheon, inviting ladies of Methodist churches in this district, which includes Naples, South Paris, Bolsters Mills, Fryeburg Harbor and Bridgton. It will be held Oct. 7 beginning at 10 a.m. with a talent program in the church followed by a luncheon. It was decided to ask Bethel members to furnish potluck dishes and each group to furnish talent for the program. Hulda Stevens and Musa Brown are hostesses. Plans for the Nov. 11-12 fall sale will be finalized at the November meeting.

Following the business meeting, Happy Birthday was sung to Frances Saunders and each member displayed and talked about their collections and hobbies. Refreshments were served by Verna Dyke and Virginia Keniston.

BETHEL SENIOR CITIZENS

The Bethel Senior Citizens will meet Sept. 14, at 11 a.m. at the Locke Mills Town Hall. Dinner will be served by the Firemen's Auxiliary. Money is due at this meeting for the Oct. 5 foliage trip, so please don't forget to bring it. A good program is planned. If unable to go, please contact Helen at 836-3192, as there is a waiting list.

BREAKFAST/FLEA MARKET

The Rumford Point Church will hold a pancake breakfast on Saturday, Sept. 10, 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. The menu will include pancakes and syrup, sausage, juice and coffee. The cost will be $3.50 for adults, $2 for children 5 to 12 and free for children under five years of age.

The Rumford Point Ladies Aid will be presiding over a food and flea market table that same morning in conjunction with the annual Rumford Point community flea market.

REGATTA SEASON ENDS

The North Pond Sailing Association ended its regatta season on Aug. 21.

After the last race, the season's high-point trophies were awarded to Jeff Seaman of North Pond, first; Sylvia Tonolini of Indian Pond, second; and Margaret Mills of North Pond, third. Other high scorers were Martha Watson of Worthley Pond, fourth and Peter Seaman of North Pond, fifth.

Next year will be the 23rd season, and the association would like to invite all the sailors in the area to come and participate in the regattas. There are no entry fees, and races are still for the fun of it.

For more information, please call Blaine Mills at 875-3726.

HOME ENERGY ASSISTANCE

Community Concepts, Inc. is currently making appointments for the Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) for residents of Androscoggin and Oxford counties.

Homeowners, renters, renters with heat included and those living in subsidized housing may apply. Home Energy Assistance Program benefits are meant to pay only a portion of the total heating bill. This program is not an emergency program.

For an appointment, call the nearest office: South Paris (743-7716), Rumford (364-3721) or Auburn (795-4065). Office hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily.

Home visits are also available to those medically homebound. Intake personnel will be at Lisbon Falls, Livermore Falls, Fryeburg and Porter for those who are unable to come to a Community Concepts office, but the participant must call for an appointment at one of the numbers listed.

Applicants are asked to bring the following: proof of household income for the past three months; receipts for primary and secondary cost of heating current residence during past 12 months; social security numbers for all household members; Central Maine Power bill; Medicaid card for the "RIDES" program; and rental lease from subsidized renters.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

The Unit met on Sept. 1 for its first meeting of the new season. Members were excited about the recognition which one of their members, Leah Deegan, is receiving by the organization at the National Convention this coming week.

Seven members attended the funeral last Monday of Lelia McAlister, a 40-year member. Sympathy is extended to her family.

On Sept. 11, Cissie Lynn will be appearing at the American Legion Hall on Gore Road in Locke Mills from 3 to 7 p.m. She is the daughter of Loretta Lynn and will be accompanied by a five-piece band, known as the "Busted Cowboys," with her husband, John Beams as the lead singer and rhythm guitar player.

The Unit will meet again on Sept. 15, at 7 p.m., and there will be a meeting of Oxford County Council on Sept. 20 at 7:30. Legionnaires will meet at West Peru, the auxiliary at Dixfield.

Members are making plans to attend the annual Fall Conference at Houlton on Sept. 24. This is the event which they co-hosted with the Bethel Unit last year at Sunday River. When they return they plan on having another fund-raising event at the Legion Hall on Sept. 27, which would consist of a boiled dinner with pumpkin pie for dessert and dancing afterward. More information will be available in a few days.

In October, there will be a music program in connection with the regular meeting on Oct. 6 and the usual Boys and Girls State banquet is planned for Oct. 20. Tentative plans are for another Musical Supper and Variety Show a few days later. After that, on Nov. 4, the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post will be hosting the National Commander on his official visit to Maine, and the auxiliary Unit will be preparing the banquet. All members able to help will be needed to make these coming events a success.

Member Lois Day was reported to be recovering from an illness and Clara Wilson as needing someone to stay with her. Zylpha Emmons had the misfortune of fracturing her right ankle and several members visited her last Monday on her birthday.

HOLT CITED--Gwendolyn Holt, seated, was honored by the Rumford Grange 115 recently. Standing behind her are: Connie Tuttle, grange state deputy; Myrtle Bisbee, junior deputy and Lewis Bisbee, state deputy.

Gwendolyn Holt honored

Rumford Grange 115 met recently at the Norway Convalescent Center to present Gwendolyn Holt her 80-year certificate.

The group met in the dining room and set up a table with an altar with an open bible and two candles. Mrs. Holt was given a homemade corsage. The ceremony was opened with the Chaplain Prayer. State Deputy Connie Tuttle presented the Maine Certificate and State Deputy Lewis Bisbee and Junior Deputy Myrtle Bisbee presented the National Certificate. The presentation was followed by a reading, "The Great Grange," by Bernice Easter; a harmonica solo by Gerald Easter; Marion Easter read a paper about Gwendolyn Holt; Poem, "What Am I Thankful For," by Priscilla Jasud; the closing consisted of a patron chain.

Present were Owen and Sue Wight, Willard and Sylvia Wight, Earl Hutchinson, Ronald and Bernice Easter, Wendell Easter, Gerald Easter, Bessie Stevens, Marion Easter, Althea Tucker, Lewis Marquette, Stanley and Priscilla Jasud, and guest deputies Connie Tuttle and Lewis and Myrtle Bisbee.

Mrs. Holt joined Bear River Grange 285 on April 12, 1914, just prior to her 14th birthday.

The New Locke Mountain Townhouses
PHASE II ONLY 1 LEFT!
PHASE III NOW AVAILABLE!
Trail Elevation
Slopeside ♦ Quality Construction ♦ Panoramic Views
Ski to your door in the afternoon. Stoke over the fire -- and relax. Watch the sun set over the spectacular Mahoosuc mountain range... from the livingroom of your new Locke Mountain Townhouse.
It's more than a slopeside condo--it's a true four-season second home. Superior construction. The utmost in convenience and privacy. You'll enjoy the fully-equipped kitchen... the cathedral ceilings... the large master bedroom... the plush wall-to-wall carpeting... the tasteful and comfortable design.
Select from two spacious floor plans. In the 1800 square-foot configuration, you'll enjoy three large bedrooms, a loft, a daylight basement and the luxury of three full baths.
In the 1660 square-foot configuration, you'll relax with three full bedrooms and two and a half baths.
Each winter, you'll step out the door and into your skis. In the summer, you can hike, mountain bike, fish, golf and explore the cool green mountains. Locke Mountain Townhouses offer you four-season recreational opportunities. All this comfort, all this convenience is available now... at remarkably attractive prices. Compare--you won't find better value in slopeside second homes ANYWHERE in snow country.
Call Sunday River Realty today at (207) 824-3000 ext. 333, and learn how you can enjoy the best of Maine's Western Mountains... four wonderful seasons a year.

Mr. & Mrs. Tim Bean

Aimee Walker and Tim Bean, both of Bethel, were married June 25, 1994, at the Locke Mills Church with the Rev. Debbie Jenks performing the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Hilda Holmes of Buckfield and Stanley Walker of Bethel. The bridegroom's parents are Carroll and Dora Bean of Albany, Vt.

The bride's gown was white satin and hand beaded lace with a high neckline and long sleeves. She carried a cascading teal and white bouquet. The matron of honor and bridesmaids' gowns were teal satin and lace with boat neckline and short sleeves and they carried teal and white silk arm bouquets. Sandy Cole of Greenwood, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kim Easter of Andover, friend of the couple; Ms. Penny Brown of Wilton, sister of the bride; and Miss Linda Mason of Bethel, friend of the couple. The flower girl was Chelsea Bean, daughter of the groom, and John Lewis was ring bearer.

Best man was Steve Cole of Greenwood, brother-in-law of the bride, and ushers were Donny Easter of Andover, Travis Buck of Locke Mills and Brian Bachelder of Newry, all friends of the couple.

A wedding reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills with Maegan Gaudreau in charge of the guest book.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Bar Harbor and are now at home in Bethel.

The bride graduated from Telstar Regional High School in 1989. The groom graduated from high school in Vermont in 1988 and is employed by Condor Corporation as a truck driver.

Obituaries

FLORUS E. POLAND

Florus E. Poland, better known as Edward Poland, 74, of Route 232, Bethel, died Friday morning, Sept. 2, 1994, at his summer residence on North Pond, Woodstock.

Mr. Poland was born in Milton Plantation on Feb. 8, 1920, son of the late Florus H. and Floris (Johnson) Poland, and attended the Milton schools, and had been a resident of Bethel for nearly half a century.

A veteran of World War II, he attained the rank of Tech 5, U.S. Army, serving with the 3794th Signal Intelligence Service, Hawaii. A member of the Greater Grace Church, Rumford, he also held membership in the American Legion, Jackson-Silver Post 68, Locke Mills. A roll wrapper by vocation, Mr. Poland had been associated with Boise Cascade for over 35 years, when he retired in 1982. On April 3, 1942, he married Eva Buck, who survives him.

Besides his wife of 52 years, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Douglas (Caroline) Conant of Belgrade, and Mrs. Reginald Breau (Holly) of Rumford; a son, John, also of Rumford; two sisters, Mrs. Levi (Gay) Sherwin of Rumford, and Mrs. James (Ruby) Coffin of West Paris; 9 grandchildren and 3 great-grandsons. Mr. Poland was predeceased by a brother, Alberto.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, Sept. 6, at the Andrews Funeral Home, South Woodstock. Interment was in Abbott's Mill Cemetery, Milton. Friends who wish may make memorial contributions to Greater Grace Church, c/o Gail Simmons, 77 Harlow Hill, Mexico, ME 04247.

ELEANOR A. ROBERTS

Eleanor A. Roberts, widow of Ralph Roberts, died Friday, Sept. 2, 1994, at home following a lingering illness.

She was born Aug. 9, 1925, in Brooklyn, N.Y., daughter of Ole and Kaspars Holvik Olsen and attended school in New York graduating from Ft. Hamilton High School in the Class of 1944, and from the Lafayette Institute of Steno and Typing with an associates degree.

A resident of Hinsdale, N.J., most of her life, for the past year she had made her home with her son and daughter-in-law, Eric and Pamela Nelson in Hanover. She worked for many years as a quality control technician for the Red Cross. Mrs. Roberts was an avid bridge player.

Survivors include two sons, Christian Nelson of Augusta, N.J., and Eric Nelson of Hanover; a step-daughter, Jeanne Strong of Missouri; one sister, Mrs. Berni (Lillian) Carlsen of Hampton Bay, N.Y.; and four grandchildren.

THEO M. MORRILL

Theo M. Morrill, 70, beloved wife of Laurice Morrill of Freeport, died at Brighton Medical Center on Sept. 3, 1994. She was born June 22, 1924.

A graveside service was held Tuesday, Sept. 6, at Burr Cemetery in Freeport. Those who wish may donate to the American Diabetes Association, P.O. Box 2208, 9 Church Street, Augusta, ME 04330.
